Madsen-O'Leary.

St. Patrick's church was the scene of a numerous and brilliant gathering, Wednesday morning, to witness the marriage of Mr. Peter Madsen and Miss Kate O'Leary.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father J. W. Hickey according to the solemn and impressive ordinance of the Catholic church. A sister of the bride, Miss Nellie O'Leary, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Jerry Mullen, groomsmen.

The bride was elegantly arrayed in a cream moire antique trimmed with white ostrich tips, en train, wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley and maiden's hair fern. The bridesmaid wore a handsome heliotrope and pale green shaded moire, trimmed with Brussels lace and pearl passementerie, and carried a large bouquet of La France roses. The groom and best man were dressed in conventional style.

High mass preceded the ceremony, and a wedding dinner was served at the St. Charles hotel by the bride's parents, at which but the relatives and a few invited guests were participants.

The young people were nicely remembered by relatives and friends. In the evening they were duly charivared by the A. O. U. W. band and young America in general, with a most feishish energy.

We join in best wishes and congratulations.

A Sad Death.

Little Earl Bates came to his death, last Saturday morning, from eating bread upon which phosphorus had been spread to kill rats, mice, etc. Although the poisoned bread had been placed in an out-of-the-way place, the little fellow managed some how to find it, and death resulted on the following morning. Phosphorus is a terribly deadly drug without a known antidote, and the greatest care should be exercised in its use. The case in point is a very sad one, and the sorrowing parents have all sympathy in their sadness over the tragic loss of their little boy.
